CLASSROOM MOMENTS: VIDEO CLIPS TO ENHANCE EARLY CHILDHOOD OBSERVATION AND TRAINING. Philadelphia, PA: Devereux Foundation, 2007. DVD, 34 min. + trainer guide.

Instructional and interactive video clips of varying lengths taken in early childhood classrooms. Clips are divided into six instructional categories: prevention in action, positive guidance in action, learning opportunities, developing observation skills, case study: pre-intervention, case study: intervention.

CLASSROOM-BASED ASSESSMENT OF PRESCHOOLERS: AN INTRODUCTION TO WHAT TEACHERS NEED TO KNOW. Washington, DC: National Association for the Education of Young Children, 2012. DVD-ROM + trainer's manual (307 p. in binder)

This multimedia training program offers 12 one-and-one-half-hour workshops designed to address basic questions about classroom-based assessment. Staff development specialists can use it to conduct training in early childhood settings for 3- to 5-year-old children. It is also appropriate for higher education courses. The manual includes the outcomes, timeframes, materials, handouts, and preparatory activities for each workshop. Trainer's Notes provide a suggested script and the DVD-ROM has slides and video clips, as well as PDFs for creating Participants' Notebooks.

FOCUSED OBSERVATIONS: HOW TO OBSERVE CHILDREN FOR ASSESSMENT AND CURRICULUM PLANNING. By Gaye Gronlund. St. Paul, MN: Redleaf Press, 2005. DVD, 74 min. + 168-page book, Focused Observations.

These classroom-tested methods for observing children will help you assess children's development, understand their behavior, and develop curriculum that addresses their capabilities and passions.

FOCUSED OBSERVATIONS: HOW TO OBSERVE YOUNG CHILDREN FOR ASSESSMENT AND CURRICULUM PLANNING. 2nd edition. By Gaye Gronlund. St. Paul, MN: Redleaf Press, 2013. 2 CD-ROMs + 242-page book.

Intentional teaching begins with focused observations and systematic documentation of children's learning and development. The Focused Observations book is filled with tools and techniques designed to help teachers purposefully observe children, create portfolios with rich documentation, and plan curriculum that supports every child. The two CD-ROMs, one without captions and one with, show classroom vignettes that may be used to practice observation and documentation techniques, along with the discussion questions, observation practice exercises, and reflection assignments in the book.

LEARNING THROUGH OBSERVATION: FIVE VIDEO VIGNETTES TO SPARK REFLECTION AND DISCUSSION. Washington, DC: Zero to Three, 2003. DVD, 65 min. + guide.

This training video shows real-life interactions between professionals and families, such as an occupational therapist's home visit with a child with special needs, morning drop off at a child care center, professional supervision, a home visit with a Spanish speaking family (in Spanish), and an Early Head Start home visit. Discussions featuring Jeree Pawl, Nancy Seibel, and Adrienne Sparger follow each vignette and discussion questions are presented for further exploration and reflection.

OBSERVATION. (The Developing Child, Module 3.) Barrington, IL: Magna Systems, Inc., 1993. DVD, 38 min. + workbook.

Purpose of observation; observing areas of development; methods of observing, recording and interpreting; naturalistic and other types of observation; uses of observation by students, professionals, and researchers.

OBSERVATION: THE KEY TO RESPONSIVE TEACHING. Washington, DC: Teaching Strategies, 2009. DVD + 97-page workbook by Charlotte Stetson + 194-page book The Power of Observation by Judy R. Jablon.

The workbook/DVD set was produced as a companion to the book The Power of Observation. The DVD contains sixteen 3-5 minute video clips linked to 16 exercises in the workbook. Use the clips to practice your observation skills. The DVD is subtitled in both English and Spanish, but not closed captioned.

OBSERVING YOUNG CHILDREN: LEARNING TO LOOK, LOOKING TO LEARN. Washington, DC: Teaching Strategies, Inc., 1995. DVD, 28 min. + trainer's guide.

Observation – as distinguished from opinion or judgment – is the basis of everything early childhood educators do. This video gives new and experienced staff the skills to learn about individual preschoolers and kindergartners, measure children's progress, and evaluate their program. The narrator walks the viewer through practice observations, and the guide gives sample forms.

PRESCHOOLER OBSERVATION. Chicago, IL: Learning Seed, 2012. 4 DVDs + 4 Educator's resource guides.

Classroom Clips teach viewers to learn by observing. Key developmental areas are explored in professionally filmed clips of 3- and 4-year-olds in varied settings. Each DVD may be played two ways: clips only with natural sound (20-25 minutes) or with narration and analysis (45-55 minutes). The detailed observations show the extraordinary advancements preschoolers make, the natural activities children are drawn to which foster development, and strategies to encourage these activities.
