RE: Updates on the New Department of Children and Families and the 2007 Wisconsin Act 104 - Automatic External Defibrillator (AED)

The purpose of this memo is to update licensees on the new Department of Children and Families, and to share information regarding the Wisconsin's new automatic external defibrillator law.

The New Department of Children and Families

Wisconsin's new Department of Children and Families (DCF) was established on July 1, 2008. The Bureau of Regulation and Licensing (BRL), renamed the Bureau of Early Care Regulation (BECR), is a part of this new department. All regional offices are located at their same locations and licensing staff have not changed.

All child care licensees are encouraged to sign up for the DCF listserv to receive electronic versions of DCF informational memos and updates. The listserv is free, but does require an active e-mail address.

2007 Wisconsin Act 104 – Automatic External Defibrillator

The passage of 2007 Wisconsin Act 104 requires that child care providers take a course approved by the Department of Health Services (DHS) on the use of automatic external defibrillators (AED). Providers are not required to have an AED on site.

All child care licensees and all staff members of a child care center who are currently required to have Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation must have proficiency in the use of an automatic external defibrillator.

AED training will be included as a component of approved CPR courses. Effective immediately, licensees and staff members whose CPR certification is expiring are required to renew their CPR certification by taking a course that includes approved training in the use of an AED. New licensees and staff members that are required to have CPR certification will also be expected to take a course that includes approved training in the use of an AED.

Approved Course Trainers in Automatic External Defibrillator Proficiency

The following CPR courses include the required AED component and have been approved by the Department of Health Services:
