Description of the incident, including the suspected cause of death, injury or egregious abuse or neglect:

On May 17, 2014, the agency received a report regarding a one-year-old child being taken to the hospital for possible head injuries. There were concerns that the child had fallen on May 5, 2014, and since that time, she had been sleepy, vomited frequently and may have had a seizure. The child was taken to the hospital by her father and her father's girlfriend on May 16, 2014, due to vomiting; however, she was discharged that night and no trauma noted. The child was brought into the hospital again by a relative on May 17, 2014, due to concerning symptoms over the last two weeks. Medical professionals who examined the child suspected head trauma due to the child's presenting symptoms, so the child was transported to another hospital. Law enforcement was contacted and initiated a criminal investigation regarding the child's suspicious injuries.

Medical professionals completed a CT scan on the child that showed head trauma. Medical professionals also stated the child was underweight and could not sit up when she was brought into the hospital. The medical professionals determined the child's weight loss was likely due to maltreatment.

The father reported that on May 5, 2014, he gave the child a bath, stepped out of the room to get a towel, heard a "thud" and came back into the bathroom and saw the child was on the floor face down and unresponsive. The father stated he was getting ready to leave for the hospital emergency room, but the child then vomited and woke up. The father stated he did not seek medical attention for the child at that time. The father's girlfriend was in the hospital on this day as she had just delivered their newborn son. The father's girlfriend was interviewed and provided the same version of events as the father. Medical professionals stated the head injuries occurred within 3-7 days from admittance to the hospital on May 17, 2014. The father and the father's girlfriend could not provide any other explanation for the child's head injuries and did not have an explanation for the extreme weight loss in the child.

Medical professionals diagnosed the child with abusive head trauma and chronic malnutrition. No criminal charges have been filed in this case, but the investigation remains open.

Findings by agency, including maltreatment determination and material circumstances leading to incident:

The agency collaborated with law enforcement and medical personnel to complete the assessment. The Initial Assessment completed by the agency found a preponderance of evidence to substantiate physical abuse to the child by an unknown maltreater and neglect to the child by the child's father and his girlfriend. The child and her newborn sibling were deemed unsafe, taken into Temporary Physical Custody, and placed in out-of-home care. A Child in Need of Protection or Services petition was filed and the case remained open to provide ongoing case management services.
