Re: State Tax Intercept

Court Case: 0199PA000999
SSN: XXX-XX-4444

The Wisconsin Bureau of Child Support has determined that you owe past-due Receipt and Disbursement fees related to your child/spousal support case. These are fees billed to you each year to cover the cost of maintaining records and processing payments on your support obligation. This is your notification that a claim will be filed against your state income tax refunds or credits. A claim will also be placed against any state lottery winnings, amounts for the return of unclaimed property, or disbursements received from the Department of Administration (DOA) for work done under contract with the state that may be paid to you. This action in no way relieves you of your legal obligation to pay ongoing support and fees as ordered by the court.

Past-due child/spousal support Receipt and Disbursement fees of $2,222.22 will be reported to the Wisconsin Department of Revenue (DOR). If you make payments toward these balances, your past-due Receipt and Disbursement fee balance will be appropriately reduced. If your debt increases, the increase may be filed as a claim against your state tax refund, unclaimed property, or lottery winnings. Any overpayment received may be applied to other past due support debts on the court case including child support, spousal support, medical expenses, support related debts and/or birth costs.

You have a right to contest whether the balances are owed by requesting an administrative review. To request an administrative review, write to the Wisconsin Bureau of Child Support at the above address. Please include your name, social security number, case number, current address, and telephone number. Administrative review requests can be made at any time and do not require the presence of an attorney.
