

Joseph Price – Joseph Price is an Associate Professor of Economics at Brigham Young University. Professor Price is the Director of the BYU Record Linking Lab, co-editor at the Economics of Education Review, and a Research Fellow at the National Bureau of Economic Research. He is the author of over 50 academic articles including a recent report with the American Enterprise Institute on the link between family structure and state-level economic outcomes. See Joseph Price's academic website.