For More Information on Child Care...

Local CCR&R agencies offer child care choices for your infant, toddler, preschooler, or school-age child.

To reach a child care resource and referral agency in Wisconsin, call the Supporting Families Together Association toll-free:

1-888-713-KIDS (5437)

or email info@supportingfamiliestogether.org

Visit the SFTA website at supportingfamiliestogether.org

To find child care in your area visit:
Wisconsin Department of Children & Families
Regulated Child Care & YoungStar
Public Search Website
childcarefinder.wisconsin.gov

For additional copies of this brochure, call the Child Care Information Center (CCIC) at 1-800-362-7353 or email ccic@wi.gov

Certification Agencies

For names of Child Care Certifiers in your county or tribe, go to https://dcf.wisconsin.gov/files/ccregulation/cccertification/certifiers.pdf. For more information about certification, go to https://dcf.wisconsin.gov/cccertification or call 608-422-6027.

Licensing Field Offices

Locations and Phone Numbers

- 1 Southeastern Office, Waukesha 262-446-7800
- 2 Southern Office, Madison 608-422-6765
- 3 Northeastern Office, Green Bay 920-785-7811
- 4 Northern Office, Rhinelander 715-361-7700
- 5 Western Office, Eau Claire 715-930-1148

DCF-P-11064 (R. 05/2017)

Photos © UW-Madison University Communications, 608-262-0067
Your child is worth it!

Changing child care arrangements is confusing to a child, so make a wise choice at the start. Give yourself and your child time to get used to the caregiver. If you must change child care programs, there should be good reason for doing so. You may decide to change child care in order to meet your child’s different growth needs or because the quality of care is poor.

When choosing child care do the following:

Look.
Begin by visiting youngstar.wi.gov to compare child care providers and find helpful parenting advice. Visit several child care homes or centers in person. Visit more than once and at different times of the day to look at what goes on. The child care environment should be safe, clean and attractive. It may look a little cluttered, but it should not be dirty. See if toys and equipment are stored at a child’s level, and that medicine and cleaning products are out of reach. Look for different kinds of play activities that fit your child’s age. See if the caregivers enjoy talking and playing with the children.

Count.
Count the number of children in the group. Count the number of staff members caring for them. A small number of children for each adult is important, especially for babies and younger children.

Ask.
Ask about the background training and experience of all staff. Ask how they handle safety, nutrition, child guidance and activities. Ask to see the policy on setting limits and handling problem behaviors. Ask if the provider participates in the YoungStar Quality Rating and Improvement System or meets high-quality local or national standards. Ask what the program’s YoungStar Star rating is and how they earned that rating. Quality care providers will be happy to answer your questions.

Be informed.

Wisconsin state law requires child care providers to obtain a license when caring for four or more unrelated children under age seven. This does not include relatives caring for your children or a babysitter who comes into your home. The licensing rules set standards for adequate care to protect children’s health, safety and well-being. A copy of these rules should be available at every licensed child care facility. If you see alleged violations at a licensed child care program, report them to the nearest licensing field office.

Certification applies to family child care providers caring for up to three children under the age of seven years, unrelated to the provider. An additional three children may be cared for in some cases, as long as the group size does not exceed six. Complaints about certified care should be reported to the county or tribal certification agency.

Quality child care for your child depends on both you and the caregiver. Share information with the caregiver about your child’s needs, interests, problems, personality and anything else that will help the caregiver provide the best care for your child.

If the caregiver has concerns about your child, listen without being defensive and be willing to talk it over. Both you and the caregiver want to help your child grow to be a happy, caring, whole human being.