

Child Care Foundational Training (CCFT)

2024 Revisions - Delivery Methods

Why has DCF changed the method of delivery for these trainings?

DCF wants to ensure all individuals entering the field are receiving consistent, high-quality trainings with real-time feedback and discussion with instructors and peers. Updating delivery methods, including adding a blended option, will meet DCF's goal while still ensuring trainings are accessible to individuals.

Correspondence courses will no longer be offered as an option.

Face-to-Face

Face-to-face training refers to time spent learning in the real-time presence of the instructor. This could be time spent in a physical classroom or time spent online in a meeting format (Zoom, Microsoft Teams, etc.).

Blended

Online content with face-to-face sessions interspersed to provide support to participants and dive deeper into the content through peer-to-peer learning opportunities.

Visit the DCF website to see an overview of the revisions.
