Ongoing: How we Help Build Safe, Stable Homes for Children

Información en español

The Ongoing stage is where services are provided based on the initial assessment and conversations with the family. Services may vary based on the needs, strengths and goals of the family. Child welfare professionals will work with the family to establish goals that achieve measurable outcomes and build a safe, stable home for children.

What can I expect in this process?

A child welfare professional will sit down with you to:

- Develop measurable goals to enhance your protective capacity
- Confirm any specific needs and strengths and how those will be addressed
- Identify change strategies to assist you in achieving stability and safe case closure
- Find culturally appropriate services and activities that are easily accessible and meet your needs
- Involve non-custodial or absent parents and relatives as resources for children

Using this information, the child welfare professional will develop the safety/protective plan and share it with you for your review and agreement.
